roof. Italianate square house with 3-windowed service wing to rear. 2- storey symmetrical 3-window front. Central rusticated porch has segmental pediment with carved tympanum. Semi-circular headed door and side windows have carved keystones and pilasters with capitals. Triple light sashes to either side have pediment with carved tympanum, over decorative panel. Windows have semi-circular heads and keystone and are separated by columns with carved capitals. String course. First floor windows similar, but with triple light over porch and 2-light to sides, all having round arched hood moulds with terminals and keystone. Rusticated centre has pediment over; open pediments to either side window. Dentile cornice. Window treatment of left and right returns similar; left return has 4-light canted bay with segmental pediment, and 4 grouped narrow sashes beneath pediment with cornice and finials, over. Right return includes rusticated chimney breast and first floor balcony with balustrade. Plain 3 storey, 3 window service wing to rear. Interior: Entrance hall has round arched openings with keys and imposts, to rooms. Central open-well stair. Moulded cornices and friezes and ribbed patterned ceiling to front right room. Particularly notable is painted glass in windows above porch, comprising 6 oval panels depicting rural scenes, and in door panels and surround of right return entrance and front door, of floral and vine-leaf motifs. House built for a local gentleman farmer, Richard Keevil whose initials are carved in the pediment over the canted bay to left. (Kelly's Directory 1872).

window in late Gothic style with good stained glass by H. Wilkinson, a 1914- 18 War Memorial. Square vestry to south west corner has hipped slate roof and raked buttresses. Nave has 5 Decorated-style windows to aisles, separated by pilasters. Clerestory is timber framed with roughcase panels and four 3-light square headed windows. South transept has rose window and 2 lancets. Apical east end has 4 tall 2-light Perpendicular-style windows separated by pilasters. Decorated lead fleche over crossing. Interior: Porch below west tower has ribbed vaulted ceiling on corbels. Nave and clerestory are oak timber-framed with chamfered aisle posts and arched braced arcade. Roof has arched braced tie beam trusses with queen posts and decorated spandrels. All windows have square-headed openings. Carved oak screen encloses chancel on 3 sides and is especially elaborate on nave-side. Fine reredos of carved oak with statues of The Apostles in niches, with Christ in the centre and St. Michael above, by Messrs. Martyn and Co., of Cheltenham. Sedilia and piscina. Brass candelabra from Melksham St. Michael's. Carved oak choir stalls. Nave pews are Victorian and from earlier chapel. Good stained glass of late C19 and early C20 in aisle windows depict saints and are memorials to members of the Awdry and Steadman families. 1908 watercolour by John Creswell, at west end of south aisle, depicts interior as rebuilt by Ponting. (N. Pevsner and B. Cherry, Buildings of England: Wiltshire, 1975) Particularly good history of this church is framed and hung in west end of nave.

Farmhouse. Early to late C18. Squared and coursed rubblestone. Stone slate roof with coped verges and ashlar end stacks. Double-pile plan. 3-storey symmetrical 3-window front. Central door has stone hood on brackets and moulded case. Ground and first floor windows are 12-pane flush sashes with 6 pane sashes to second floor. Flush quoins and plain window architraves. Rear facade is 2 storey and under outshut roof, with early C19 lean-to extension to left. 3 windows are 2-light beaded mullions with casements. Same casements on rear half of gable ends, but sashes to front half. Interior: large stone 4-centred arched fireplace in room to front left. Plain stone square-headed fireplace with keystone to rear left. Ceilings of rear part of house are lower and flue levels different from front. 4 and 5-plank doors. The difference between front and rear seems to suggest a remodelling of the front in late C18/early C19, of an early C18 house.

Farmhouse. Early to mid C18. Rubblestone, stone slate half-hipped roof, brick stacks. L-plan, gable end to street. 2 storeys, 3- windows. Entrance door is on at right angles to street, chamfered door case and flat stone hood on brackets. To left is one 2-light cyma-mullioned window and a blocked window to right. First floor has two 2-light cyma-mullioned windows and one 2-light beaded- mullioned window, all leaded glass. Rear and right gable return have single, 2 and 3-light beaded and cyma-mullioned windows. Wing to left has chamfered door case to left of single-light cyma moulded window and one blocked door to right. Left return has a pair of 8-pane sashes in flat case with mullion to ground floor and one 4-pane sash to first floor. Rear has C20 casements to ground floor and two 2-light cyma mullioned windows and a C19 casement to first floor. Interior: room to right of entrance has narrow chamfer to ceiling beams and a stone flat arched fireplace with roll moulding. A difference between the ceiling and floor levels of the two wings suggests that the house was originally one range with an additional wing built slightly later.

Farmhouse. Late C17. Rubblestone, stone slate roof with saddleback coped verges, kneelers and finials. Ashlar stacks. L-plan with cross-passage. 2 storeys, 3 windows. Central 7- plank door has moulded architrave and drip mould continuous with windows to left. Windows are 3 and 2-light ovolo moulded mullions to left and to right is paired 8-pane sash in moulded architrave. Above are 3 Cotswold-type gables each with one 3-light ovolo mullioned window with drip mould. Projecting wing to right is 2- storey with 2 windows; 3-light ovolo mullioned window with drip mould and one cross window to ground, above is jettied first floor landing with one casement, supported on timber posts and a stone column with Ionic capital. 3-light ovolo mullioned window to right. Windows to wing and rear of main house are similar; same Cotswold-type gables to rear and parlour window is 4-light ovolo mullioned with king mullion. Interior: parlour to right of front door has large stone 4-centred arched fireplace and chamfered ceiling beams with plain stops. Stairs in main house and wing. Wing formerly used as services containing bakehouse, apple room and large cellar (now blocked). K Datestone in central gable, of 1696 below initials T M is from the dovecote demolished in 1960's. This is a good example of a large C17 stone farmhouse.

Farmhouse. G.M.H.. 1631 on tablet below central first floor window. English bond brick with ashlar quoins, 4-span roof has stone slates to front pitches and pantiles to rear pitches, saddleback coped verges and finials to gables. 4 brick stacks to central valley. Square plan. 2 storeys with attic, 3-windowed symmetrical facades. Central planked door has moulded Tudor arched surround, with stops to jambs and 2-light hollow chamfered mullioned window over; string course is raised above whole. To either side are 4-light mullioned and transomed windows with king mullions and leaded glass. Relieving arches over all windows to ground and first floors. Central cross window with 3-light mullioned and transomed windows either side to first floor, string course over. Left return is same as front without central door, ground floor left and first floor cross window are blocked, attached stone wash house to left. 4 attic gables each have one 2-light hollow mullioned window with drip mould; all are blocked. Right return is same but with central chamfered door case and planked door, inside C20 lean-to porch, blocked 4-light mullioned and transomed window to right. Rear is same as front but with 3-light flat mullioned window to left of door and 3-light cyma mullioned window to right. Interior: cross passage from front to rear. Front room to left has large Tudor fireplace with cornice and herringbone brick back, doors are narrow panelled oak, one with fine carved border. Rear left room has Victorian marble fireplace. No C17 ceiling beams are exposed; lowered ceilings throughout. Narrow rear stairs to first floor which retains more interesting features: rooms to front right and rear right contain large stone Tudor fireplaces with cornices over. Centrally placed on side walls and adjacent to front and rear rooms are garderobe chambers with narrow panelled oak doors. Square beaded panelled oak cupboards, possibly for spices, in front right bedroom. Blocked fireplaces in
